Cabinet Mission From Britain To Leave For India

British Government Announces Decision To Send Three-Man Cabinet Mission

SITUATION HAS GROWN SERIOUS

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The British government announced its decision today to send a three-man cabinet mission to India to discuss the whole problem of Indian independence.

This announcement emerged as a frank admission of seriousness of the situation.

To Seek Agreement

The mission, in association with Viceroy Lord Wavell, is empowered to do the utmost to reach an agreement with Indian leaders to prevent further deterioration of the inflammatory situation.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee continued the announcement which was made in parliament, adding that the mission will leave for India "toward the end of March."

Announcement that the mission will be sent was taken as an admission that the Viceroy's efforts have failed and the situation, which has caused widespread misgivings in London, needs fresh, urgent and more realistic handling.

Fear Catastrophe

In the best-informed political quarters of London, fears have been expressed openly recently that India is bound for a catastrophic explosion unless quick action is taken by authorities.

Dispatches from Bombay told this morning of thousands of loyal Indians.

Report Made On Republic Fund Monday Evening

Campaign Short A Thousand Dollars Of Reaching Goal Partial Report Shows

WORKERS WILL FINISH DRIVE

While hopes had been entertained that the campaign for the $7,000 building fund for the George Junior Republic at Grove City, would be realized by last evening, the report received by General chairman Ross D. Rosenberg at a meeting in The Castleton was most encouraging. Only a partial report was available which showed that $3,411 had been received, most of which was from the New Castle teams.

Plan Final Draft

The workers will continue their efforts during the coming week and a final report will be made on next Monday evening at a meeting called for 8 o'clock in The Castleton.

The report received last night was very gratifying and it is believed that if the workers see all of their prospects during the coming week, that the amount sought will be attained.

Bulk From City Alone

The bulk of the amount reported last evening was from the city of New Castle alone, and when the reports are in from Ellwood City, New Wilmington, Wampum and Besenmer, in their entirety, it is believed that the goal will be reached.

Workers started out from last night's meeting, determined to bring the campaign to a close by the end of the present week.

Persons who are not solicited, and who are desirous of helping out with this most worthwhile effort have been asked to mail their checks to Carl Paisley, secretary of the New Castle Rotary club, which is sponsoring the campaign, at 241 East Washington street.

Democratic Gesture By Emperor Hirohito In Industrial Tour

TOKYO, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito made his supreme "democratic" gesture today when he started a two-day tour of industrial plants and housing projects in Japan.

The emperor visited a fertilizer plant and a heavy industry plant at the start of his tour this morning and shattered the traditional aloofness of Japan's rulers by chatting with workers.

Hirohito donned a grey civilian suit for his tour and carried out the democratic theme by asking workmen about their families and exhorted them to dedicate their labors to Japan's reconstruction.

The imperial party traveled in six automobiles—without guards—and was followed by a score of jeeps carrying newsmen and photographers.

Breaks Precedents

The precedent-breaking tour was considered a concession to complaints centering on the remoteness of Hirohito from the people.

The people generally blame Japan's economic ills on the emperor.

Radiator Company Fabricating Plants Seek Price Relief

Situation Hinges On O. P. A. Price Restrictions, Says President Waters

CITES NEED FOR PRICE ACTION

The National Radiator company announced today that it is hopeful a practical basis can be developed for the re-opening of its plant here.

However, because of an O. P. A. price restriction the company is in a different category than the basic steel producing companies who have worked out agreements with their employees.

President Gives Situation

As announced today by Robert S. Waters, president, The National Radiator company, prior to the strike was selling its major products for less money than they cost to manufacture, due to O. P. A. price ceilings, so that every shipment showed a loss.

Mr. Waters stated, "I don't know the answer. For six months we have been doing our level best to get O. P. A. to realize that a manufacturer can't continue to run his plants if his only reward is dissipation of his working capital. This kind of practice eventually leads to one thing, and that is a final suspension of operations. To date O. P. A. has failed to correct the price situation."

No Pattern Set

Mr. Waters stated further that the mere fact basic steel producing industries had met the President's request for wage increases for its employees could not possibly set a pattern for companies like The National Radiator.

End Of Steel Strike In Fabricating Plants Depends On Price Action By Government

STRIKE STILL ON IN MANY PLANTS

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Steel fabricators threatened today* to keep their plants closed until they received price relief from Washington.

While some of the steel-dependent firms signed new wage agreement with the steel workers union, about 650 companies employing more than 350,000 men, are withholding meetings with the union until they are granted a price increase.

Ray Booth, executive secretary of the tri-state industrial association, which represents small fabricators in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, said he far as his group is concerned the "strike is still on."

Situation Faced

"How can a fabricating company, which has been losing money since before the strike, grant a wage increase, pay more for its raw material and at the same time not be allowed to increase the price of its product?"

"Can these companies be expected to open their plants, continue to lose money, and finally close down forever because they were forced into bankruptcy?"

"Until official Washington tells the fabricators what they are going to do, the strike is still on."

Urges U.S. Army Be Provided By Volunteer Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Philip F. La Follette today urged that the United States build a powerful army of volunteers instead of conscripts and called on America to lead all nations to outlaw universal military service.

Attacks Conscription

La Follette, a veteran of both world wars and three times governor of Wisconsin, vigorously attacked plans for peacetime conscription while testifying before the House Military Affairs committee.

A former member of General MacArthur's staff, La Follette said that by ending the military "caste system" and by greatly increasing the pay and promotion opportunities for GIs, the United States can build a highly trained volunteer force that would be far more efficient than a vast conscript army.

La Follette opposed peacetime training as an idea which has "become obsolete in the age in which we live."

Police Hold Four Robbery Suspects Loot Of More Than $11,000 Involved In Cases In Pittsburgh District

Western Pennsylvania police today held four persons as suspects in a series of robberies in which they netted loot totaling more than $11,000.

In Canonsburg, three youths were under arrest in connection with eight robberies in Washington county.

George Peterson, 21; James P. Smith, 22, and Wayne T. Alderson, 19, were charged with stealing more than $4,000 in cash and merchandise and breaking into stores and residences.

Canonsburg police said Peterson and Smith have been identified as the two men who broke into the home of Irvin Bales and carried away a safe containing $4,000 in cash. They also were accused of "cracking" the safe at the Streamline market in Canonsburg.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh, Allegheny county detectives held Stanley Helensky, 39, of New Kensington in connection with the theft of $7,000 in cash and war savings bonds of his four sibling brothers-in-law during a wedding celebration.

Helensky, hired as a bartender for the occasion, denied the theft.

Chicago Caravan Makes Stop At Massillon, Ohio

MASSILLON, O., Feb. 19.—Armed with refilled thermos jugs and bundles of sandwiches, the Chicago war veteran caravan resumed its drive on Washington today after an over-night stop in Massillon.

The taxis were preceded from the city by a motorcycle escort of Ohio state highway patrolmen. The patrol was to accompany the caravan to the Pennsylvania state line.

The influx of cabs, loaded with 500 ex-servicemen, their wives and sweethearts, swamped the city's parking and hotel facilities.

Arrangements had been made beforehand, however, for rooms in several hotels and the YMCA. A large storage room in the Erie hotel was converted into a mess hall for the drivers.

No U. S. Move Is Likely In Spy Ring Activities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Diplomatic observers doubted today that the United States will move openly to disclose such evidence as it may possess on the machinations of a major foreign spy ring in this country.

Little doubt existed that the operations of the ring, disclosed by a series of arrests in Canada, spilled over into United States. But it was believed that diplomatic and practical considerations are likely to cause the United States to remain publicly aloof from the situation.

This theory was supported by the tight lid of silence maintained in official Washington after three days of speculation. The White House, the state department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation still are silent.

World Broadcast Planned By Pope

SIGNIFICANT INNOVATION TO BE INTRODUCED WEDNESDAY BY POPE PIUS XII

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 19.—Pope Pius XII, whose pontificate already is studded with precedent-breaking performances, tomorrow will introduce a significant innovation.

In the midst of the centuries-old ritual of bestowing the biretta on his new cardinals he will broadcast to the world on the state of the church and the merits of its new prelates.

Catholic Homes Participate

Practically every Catholic home this will be afforded an opportunity to participate, across the ether, in the second pontifical act of the four-day consistory series—the all-important ceremony wherein the pope personally bestows upon the cardinals-elect their first insignia distinctive of their new dignity.

The beautiful Hall of Benedictions, in the papal apartments, has been selected for this first contact between Pius XII and his cardinal creation.

Prefect of apostolic ceremonies, Mons. Carlo Respighi, explained that the imposition of the biretta is "an intimate ceremony" having none of the solemn, official, ritualistic characteristics of the secret or public consistories. The old cardinals are, in fact, excluded.

Armed with crowbars, spades and hockey sticks, the sailors for two hours rushed through Bombay's business district, disrupting traffic and forcing business houses to close.

Two police officers, three British military officers and two Indian constables were injured.

Quelled momentarily, the demonstrations broke out again after the American flags were torn from the U. S. information library building and cameras and films stolen from a camera store.

The rioters, mostly from sloops and mine sweepers attached to naval shore establishments, demanded redress for what they termed injustices by their commanding officer.

The publication stated that such speeds were possible with the advances made during the recent war by the use of rocket power.

French Girls Preparing For Spring Fashion Show

By JACQUELINE DE MAUDUIT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Feb. 19.—A sure sign of warmer weather appeared in Paris today as 400 lovely French girls began primping for appearance as mannequins tomorrow in spring fashion shows.

The young ladies' hearts were not the only ones to palpitate as the curtain rose on the new, festive season. Famous clothes designers were themselves frankly apprehensive over successes or failure of their models.

The world-famous couturiers are known to be experiencing financial difficulties, and their very survival depends on the outcome of the present showings.

Some firms had hit Slender reserve funds remaining after five years of war have been drained by high wages and the prices of fine silks and woolsens.

Some firms have been so badly hit that they are planning to present their magnificent creations in the form of miniature clothing on dolls.

Last year's "Exposition Poupées" was such a huge success that this year's showing of the latest Paris fashions will be repeated with better materials and greater effort all around.

Predictions are that the shows will include three miniature mannequins given finishing touches by Parisian jewelers.

One of these will sport a chapeau-elli evening gown, glittering jewels, and a brilliant tiara. This creation was especially conceived for sending to New York after the Paris review.

The sled is hung on the cellar wall, and the skates are racing a lot, for sleds and skates aren't very much to be had. Now I don't mean hot like the middle of June, nor August's sultry days when the air is still and the earth is warm, and there's a bluish summer haze. I merely mean that its warm for now, its February and say, the month's so far has been mighty nice, it's 42 today.

Members Of Draft Boards Honored

Medals Are Presented To Volunteer Selective Service Workers Monday Evening

Four members of the Selective Service Boards located in New Castle were present at the ceremony conducted in Pittsburgh last evening, when they were presented with service medals authorized by Congress as a mark of recognition for the service they have rendered to their country in serving on these boards without compensation.

Today they are back on their jobs, mindful of the warning given by Governor Edward Martin in an address broadcast from Harrisburg, that the presentation of these medals does not mark the end of the job for the local boards.

"You have a continuing duty to select replacements for the occupational troops, and to maintain the armed strength of the nation," Governor Martin emphasized in his address. "It is your responsibility and opportunity to assist returning veterans and their dependents." Governor Martin stated. "We must see to it that the veteran is restored to his proper place in our social and economic life."

Mass presentation ceremonies were conducted in Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Erie, Scranton, and Philadelphia.

Local board members from Lawrence county had the privilege of attending the ceremony either at Pittsburgh or Erie, and those who attended went to Pittsburgh because of better transportation facilities.

From New Castle, those attending were: Chairman Harry Davies, James M. Yates of New Castle Local Board Two, and R. L. Hildebrand, appeal board agent; and from Local Board One, was Roy M. Jamison.

Medals will be mailed to those who were not present at the ceremonies.

ing to pay for raw material, until Washington announces and get into operation a workable plan giving the small manufacturer a price increase these companies will not reopen."

Far From Over

Both said that the steel strike is far from being over. He added that there are 650 steel-using plants not operating and 350,000 men still on the picket lines because the government has failed to take the fabricator under consideration.

In Washington, meanwhile, government officials clarified the $5 a ton price increase for basic steel. Judge J. C. Collett, retiring stabilization director, told a news conference yesterday that the $5 a ton maximum increase is an average figure. He declared that the increase might amount to more in some cases and less in others.

On the other hand, CIO President Philip Murray, who also heads the powerful steel workers union, predicted that within "a week or ten days" all the steel-dependent firms will be signed up with his union.

C. I. O. Signs Up

J. & L., the largest independent basic steel producer in the country, was the last to sign with the steel workers union.

A spokesman for the union said more than a dozen companies signed new wage agreements yesterday. Among them was the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh, who signed for 11,000 employees in five plants.

"1. Establish a minimum pay scale starting at $100 a month, plus the usual allowances, for privates, with a corresponding increase for non-commissioned officers.

"2. Provide a system of promotion from the ranks and a program of education and in-service training to enable GI's to qualify for advancement and to become trained technicians.

"3. Strike at the military caste system by narrowing the difference in clothes, quarters, mess, legal rights, and social life between GI's and officers.

"4. Improve the officer class by putting appointments to West Point (and Annapolis) on a civil service basis and by putting peacetime promotions on a basis of competitive examinations."

The tour was expected to be a shot in the arm for lagging Japanese industrial morale.

The Japanese people showed varied reactions in the presence of Hirohito. Some turned their backs in the traditional respectful attitude, others bowed stiffly and still others continued working and gave no sign that they noticed the emperor.

The emperor was particularly interested in watching operations at a steel plant and at one point climbed a rusted ladder to get a better view.

Auto Accident Fatality Causes Suit For $30,982

Large Amount Sought Result Of Death Of Young Woman On September 10, 1945

Suit was filed today in the Lawrence County court house by Walter D. Preston, administrator of the estate of the late Alice Olivia Preston, against Melvin L. Smith and Eric A. Hart, of Kane, Pa. Damages in the amount of $30,982 are asked for the death of Miss Preston which occurred on September 10, 1945 in an automobile accident.

On the night of the date mentioned Miss Preston was riding in the station wagon operated by Miss Hart. Driving the road between Coalstown and Eastbrook Station, a winding hill road, the car skidded off the road and upset, crushing Miss Preston. At the time of the accident it is said rain had been falling for some time.

In the statement of claim it is alleged that Miss Hart operated the station wagon in a negligent fashion, that she did not have the car under control and was responsible for the accident. Miss Preston had gone to Beaver Falls with Miss Hart and the two young women were returning to a camp on the Neshaunock river near Eastbrook.

Of the amount claimed, $30,000 is for estimated monies which Miss Preston would have earned in her employment. The $982 represents the expenses of the funeral services.

a single atomic bomb can pulverize an entire battlefield. He called it a policy of "fascist militarism," and advanced the following four-point program in its stead:

"1. Establish a minimum pay scale starting at $100 a month, plus the usual allowances, for privates, with a corresponding increase for non-commissioned officers.

"2. Provide a system of promotion from the ranks and a program of education and in-service training to enable GI's to qualify for advancement and to become trained technicians.

"3. Strike at the military caste system by narrowing the difference in clothes, quarters, mess, legal rights, and social life between GI's and officers.

"4. Improve the officer class by putting appointments to West Point (and Annapolis) on a civil service basis and by putting peacetime promotions on a basis of competitive examinations."

DEMOCRATIC GESTURE BY JAP EMPEROR

nese statesmen for the nation's ill and for maintaining Hirohito's aloofness.

The tour was expected to be a shot in the arm for lagging Japanese industrial morale.

The Japanese people showed varied reactions in the presence of Hirohito. Some turned their backs in the traditional respectful attitude, others bowed stiffly and still others continued working and gave no sign that they noticed the emperor.

The emperor was particularly interested in watching operations at a steel plant and at one point climbed a rusted ladder to get a better view.

tional Radiator company, which were not engaged in producing steel, but which fabricated iron and steel products.

Mr. Waters continued, "The working time of our employees, unlike many companies, was not cut back due to suspension of war work. The local plant prior to the strike was working on a forty-eight hour week schedule; hence, there has been no cutback in our employees' take-home pay compared with wartime earnings."

Need Price Relief

"I don't see how we can assume additional costs at this time," Mr. Waters stated, "unless O. P. A. grants price relief. We have been working as hard as we know how to get them to see our position. The president's new wage-price policy, as covered in Executive Order 9647, is now being studied by our executives, who are trying to find out what it means, and how it applies to us and our employees. At the moment we are in the dark. We deeply regret the present condition, mainly because it prevents our employees from returning to work at once."

Situation Regretted

"It never seemed right to us that our employees should have been thrown out of work simply because they were identified with an international union dealing with problems of steel producing companies and not problems of steel fabricating companies like National. This certainly was a blow at collective bargaining. We keenly regret this situation, for if there is any one thing that we have cherished in the affairs of the company it is the excellent relations that always existed between National's employees and its management."

U. S. Kept Informed

The only official comment on the spy ring developments thus far from policy-making levels has been a White House statement denying that Canadian Prime Minister W. A. Mackenzie-King consulted President Truman on the subject during his secret visit to Washington. This White House statement also said that Canada had kept the United States informed on the situation there.

Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, chief of the atomic bomb project, however, expressed concern along with other army officials over reported "multiple leaks of atomic bomb secrets." Groves said that there had been more leakage of the world's most sought-after device in the past four weeks than during the entire war period.

Authorities are aware of the powder-dreel nature of the situation, particularly in Bombay, Calcutta and certain inland cities. Hitherto, though, they have felt the worst could not be expected until at least the end of March, after the Indian elections.

Rapid deterioration of the food situation, however, left no urgency to the matter. This was aggravated by inflammatory speeches of some Indian leaders.

In view of this, the British government decided to send the cabinet mission to India was reached.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Nation Facing Cruel Fifth Column Dilemma

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The announcement in Ottawa of the arrest of persons charged with selling military-scientific information to a foreign power takes the lid off a problem that for months has been the subject of talk and speculation here in Washington.

Chairman Brien McMahon of the Senate Atomic Bomb committee had been informed that the arrests of the 22 Canadians would take place. But the nature of the information that may have been disclosed to Russian agents is not known to members of the Senate committee.

The danger of espionage has been studied by the committee in executive session. There is, however, another aspect of the problem which has caused grave concern among those responsible for American policy on atomic energy.

Pay Allegiance To Communism

This is the fact that a group exists in this country paying allegiance not to the American way of life but to the system of communism. Many in this group are eccentrics and fanatics. But others have positions of power and influence in the labor movement and in organizations allied with it.

Some have identified themselves closely with the Communist line, switching like weather-vanes when Soviet foreign policy has shifted.

After Russia signed the pact with Nazi Germany in August of 1939, the war became for these weather-vanes an imperialist war. British imperialism was denounced in Communist and fellow-traveling publications.

When Germany attacked the Soviet Union in June of 1941, the war overnight became a crusade against fascism. In the in-between period, while this country was trying desperately to prepare for what might come, strikes and sabotage in U. S. industry impeded the preparedness effort. In certain instances, these strikes were traced down to Communist direction.

Fifth Column
In effect, this group in America is a fifth column. If the worst befall us and we were to become involved in a crisis with Russia, their loyalty would be to communism.

What, then, to do with these Americans under such circumstances? That is a question which has concerned policy-makers. If you look at the whole action and deprive thousands or hundreds of thousands of citizens of their liberty, you would do perhaps irreparable violence to the American form of government.

Furthermore, you would doubtless do great injustice to many innocent persons. Thousands of liberals, radicals and progressives are loyal Americans who think in terms of economic change within the American framework of freedom of thought and religion. They would be likely to be caught in a dragnet and the way would be opened to the persecution of anyone who deviated from political normalcy in any way.

Has Wellman Sound
If all this has a Wellman sound, out of a shape of things to come three centuries from now, let it be repeated that these are the terms in which responsible men are talking in private. Always there is a realization of a new power, atomic power, which carries with it absolute destruction.

The trials to be held in Canada are expected to develop sensational evidence linking certain persons in this country with a network of Soviet influence and information. That is, they will if the royal commission now conducting an investigation turns the evidence over to a court for public trial.

In the byzantine workings of our own government, one department has already, by means of a convenient leak, impugned the integrity and/or the good sense of another department. The picture is presented of the FBI wanting to arrest Russian agents and the State department intervening to let them go. This makes, of course, for more confusion and uncertainty.

Solemn Warning
In two recent speeches, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, has uttered solemn warnings of the Communist danger in this country. One was before the International Association of Chiefs of Police in Miami and the other before the Catholic Youth Organization in New York.

The FBI has kept zealous watch on those suspected of being Communist agents. In some instances, even foreign diplomats have been reported to their respective governments for association with persons believed to be directing certain activities in this country.

It is a cruel dilemma—the dilemma of a fifth column in a democracy—and it will plague us often in the future.

Just Folks

Wonderland
So much to see, so much to know.
So much nearby to find,
I often wonder as I go
To what just then I'm blind.

What glory have I failed to see
While hastening along?
What has self-interest kept from me
Of beauty or of song?

Have I walked head-down all the way,
My thoughts on loss and gain,
And missed throughout a busy day
Some splendor that was plain?

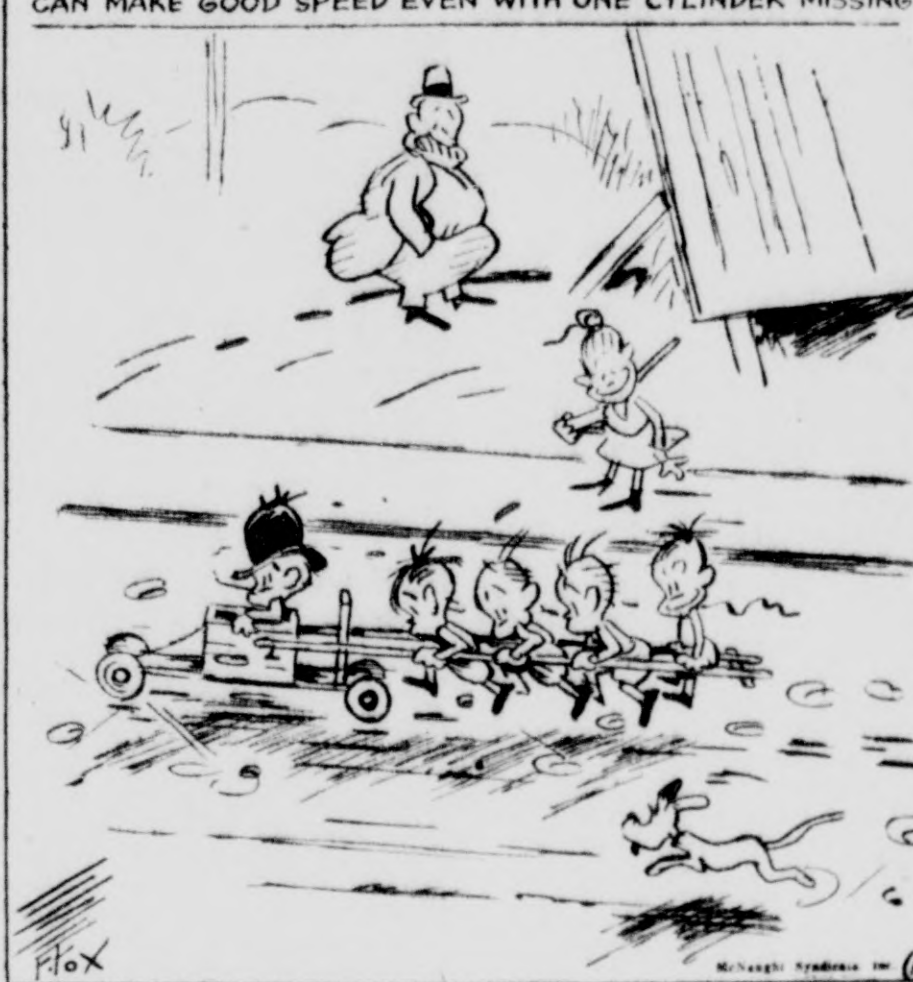

What miracle of bush or tree,
Creatures that walk or fly
That I should have rejoiced to see,
Have I gone rushing by?

Eulogies Of Ickes Out Of Proportion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—FROM THE press of the country which, for political purposes, he so long and persistently maligned and misrepresented, Mr. Harold Ickes has been pretty well drenched with praise since his highly dramatized resignation of Thursday. Perhaps this proves some of the charges made against the newspapers by Mr. Ickes. Perhaps it proves some other things about the press. At any rate, as in the case of the late Mr. Hopkins, eulogies seem slightly overdone.

FOR EXAMPLE, the press dwells almost unanimously on Mr. Ickes' "integrity." One would think that either he was the only honest man holding a high public office or was more honest than other honest men. Neither of these things is true. Mr. Ickes, of course, is completely honest in money matters, as are most men. But he isn't honest enough to be fair; nor honest enough to avoid misrepresentation of his opponents nor honest enough to justify the designation of "Honest Harold," as though his honesty were of a quality superior to that of the ordinary honest man. One could go back over Mr. Ickes' record and speeches and find proof of this. However, in his attitude toward Mr. Pauley he is absolutely right. Mr. Pauley ought not to be confirmed and Mr. Ickes' testimony has—or should have—been well paid to his character. Also, Mr. Ickes was right when he characterized as the "rawest proposition" he ever had made to him, Mr. Pauley's proposal. And it is worth noting that Mr. Ickes' resentment of this "raw proposition" did not impel him to publicly denounce Mr. Pauley at the time. Perhaps in the middle of the campaign that was too much to expect of him. Anyhow, it does seem that if Mr. Ickes and Mr. Pauley had not fallen out we would never have heard of this incident, which Mr. Ickes kept quiet about for nearly two years, though it would have fitted in better with his "Honest Harold" reputation to have expressed indignation without delay.

BEYOND doubt, this was an outstanding proposal which any honest official would want. But it should be recalled that Mr. Pauley at that time was collecting money for Mr. Roosevelt's fourth-term campaign and that he had been put in by Mr. Roosevelt as the party treasurer. And it is worth noting that Mr. Ickes' resentment of this "raw proposition" did not impel him to publicly denounce Mr. Pauley at the time. Perhaps in the middle of the campaign that was too much to expect of him. Anyhow, it does seem that if Mr. Ickes and Mr. Pauley had not fallen out we would never have heard of this incident, which Mr. Ickes kept quiet about for nearly two years, though it would have fitted in better with his "Honest Harold" reputation to have expressed indignation without delay.

IN THIS connection it is interesting to note that conspicuous among the few papers which did not eulogize Mr. Ickes was the New York left-wing daily form which eulogy was most to be expected. Instead of praise, this radical journal, whose here is Mr. Henry Wallace, was severely critical of Mr. Ickes, stressed the fact that up to a few months ago he and Mr. Pauley had been quite close intimates. Mr. Ickes' motives in denouncing Mr. Pauley now were not entirely devoid of personal spleen. At his press conference Mr. Ickes, characteristically, denounced this paper as untruthful and its correspondence as "psychopathic and untruthful."

BUT what this journalistic proposition, along with Mr. Ickes' record in competition with honest men, has to say against Mr. Ickes is not very important. Whatever his motives he has performed a public service in revealing the "raw proposition" and thus obstructing the confirmation of Mr. Pauley. The breast-beating self-righteousness of his letter of resignation and his obvious effort to hurt Mr. Truman do not detract from that fact. Nor do they tarnish his record in competition with honest men. The New Deal, and honest men, "common man," has to say against Mr. Ickes is not very important. Whatever his motives he has performed a public service in revealing the "raw proposition" and thus obstructing the confirmation of Mr. Pauley. The breast-beating self-righteousness of his letter of resignation and his obvious effort to hurt Mr. Truman do not detract from that fact. Nor do they tarnish his record in competition with honest men.

No Change Seen In Relations With Spain
We'll Eat Dark Bread Soon—And Like It
Korea Key To U. S.-Russian Relationship

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Look for little, if any change, in United States-Spanish relations despite the likelihood of a meeting among the United States, Great Britain and France on French proposals to sever diplomatic ties with Gen. Francisco Franco's regime.

Despite its ostensible interest in the matter, the United States reportedly is adopting a wait-and-see policy. Although the Attlee Labor government is in power, Great Britain's foreign policy is little changed since Winston Churchill's was ousted.

The American position is purportedly predicated on the view that severance of diplomatic relations with Spain would cut off the Allies from an accurate source of information. Actually, the United States is hoping that Spain will bring about a democratic change without any outside interference.

Labor Legislation Distant

Labor disputes legislation is still a long way off despite House passage of the drastic Case anti-strike bill. The bill goes to the Senate where a far more temperate reception is assured.

Many senators argue that any bill passed by the Senate would have to be harmonized with the House measure. And they insist that the result probably would be unsatisfactory.

Consequently, an effort will be made to delay Senate action indefinitely unless an agreement can be reached on a bill which the House would accept in lieu of the Case measure.

It is heartening to me to learn of the number of fathers in the service abroad who are preparing themselves to be the kind of fathers they would like to be even of the child they have never seen, of these fathers and their wives linking their hands and hearts across the seas to this end.

For example, a young mother writes:

"I enjoy reading your column, having profited many times from your advice, and I clip and send it in my letters to my husband overseas. He has found your advice helpful too and is looking forward to putting your ideas into practice. He has asked me to send your Bulletin, 'Fathers Are Parents, Too.'"

We live quietly with a tentative schedule although not in rigid routine. But frequently friends come in and the living-bedroom is where we all must be.

"At such times, the adults try to be inconspicuous, carrying on a quiet conversation and ignoring the baby except for occasional spanking she gets for standing up. I know, of course, it is natural for (Continued on Next Page)

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Here is, indeed, something beyond my understanding.

You have all read about the terrible housing shortage all over the country and particularly in New York.

Every hotel is packed to the doors and turning away would-be guests by the thousand. It is impossible to find an apartment or a furnished room and home-building is at a standstill.

"Stay away from New York" is the general cry, and hotel managers spend good money to advertise that warning.

But—when it was announced that the United Nations Organization had selected New York for its interim headquarters, it was announced at the same time that the city's hotel association had guaranteed 250 of the best suites to the organization for an unlimited time and 5000 accommodations in other hotels would definitely be available for the September meeting.

And when the committee in search of a site had picked a huge territory in a thickly populated section near New York it was taken for granted that homes for some twenty thousand attaches could be found, that building material and labor would be readily available and that thousands of residents would be thrown out of their present homes to go—where?

I don't intend to enter into the controversy of this matter. But I do wonder why people who live here and pay taxes are being shoved around and told to sleep on park benches if we don't like it, but thousands of foreigners who will pay neither income taxes nor any other kind of taxes are to be given the city's best hotel accommodations and homes which either can't be found at all by us, or if we do succeed in finding them, on which the prices are sky-high.

Personally I wish the UNO would have its headquarters somewhere in Europe.

We have enough trouble of our own here in America right now without borrowing the headaches of other countries.

If you invite weekend guests to your house you don't expect them to ask for your best rooms, eat your choicest foods and then squabble and fight among themselves so that you can't sleep at night.

And by what we have read about the UNO meetings in London so far, that is exactly what we can look forward to.

A foreign nation on our property. A lot of dissenting elements and a lot of ideas spreading their poisonous ideas among our peace-loving people.

A lot of special privileges in a country where there are supposed to be no special privileges.

You may see the UNO in America in the shape of beautiful marble palaces and sparkling fountains and magnificent parks and avenues.

I see it as a colossal headache. (Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The World and the Mud Puddles

THAT TRUSTEESHIP

"It is refreshing to read President Truman's flat pronouncement that we will keep such Pacific islands as we need" and turn over to the trustships those that we do not need. This is plain common sense. The most of these captured islands were used as a high cost of American lives. They are vital to our future security. To turn them over to other nations acting as trustees, no matter how friendly, would be to give up what self-preservation requires we should hold.

Incidentally, about the only suggestions thus far made about trustships seem to apply to these Pacific islands. Russia has not been asked to consider trustee arrangements for liberated Poland, Lithuania, Estonia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary or Yugoslavia. Britain has not broached the idea of trusteeship of Greece or for her former holdings in China, Malaya and the East Indies. There appears no thought in the minds of The Netherlands government of placing Java under trustee rule. The Kuriles are Pacific isles wrested from Japan by the American victory. But Russia takes them over without the thought of trusteeship. The French have shown no interest in trustee arrangements for Indo-China.

It is rather strange in view of the President's plain statement to read reports from London that American delegates to the UNO meeting are "divided" on the issue of trustships. If we have members on the delegation so visionary that they would forfeit our hard-won rights to future security, they should be brought around to a common sense viewpoint or recalled.

AIR FORCE BAND'S DIRECTOR TO LEAD 'FESTIVAL' BAND

Capt. George Howard Will Conduct School Bands In April Concert Here

Captain George Sallade Howard, commanding officer and conductor of the Official United States Army Air Forces band which won international acclaim as the finest band in the world, has accepted an invitation to be guest conductor of the Mid-Western Pennsylvania Band Festival concert in the Cathedral auditorium on April 27, according to Joseph P. Replogle, director of the local high school band.

Has Fine Record
Captain Howard's U. S. A. F. band has just completed the most successful tour ever made by any musical organization, playing in England, Scotland and France and receiving ringing applause for its ability to play any type of music with the highest professional standard. European papers said of it: "It is unsurpassed for sheer virtuosity."

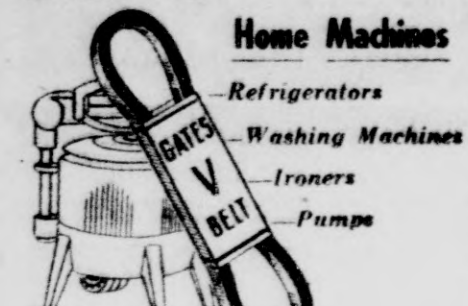

Now in Washington, D. C., Capt. Howard is rehearsing a large musical organization made up of band, orchestra, and chorus, soon to be heard in a series of programs over the national networks.

Preliminary Programs
As a preliminary to the festival itself, the No-Co-Hi band gave two assembly programs of festival numbers last week which were enthusiastically received by the faculty and students of the high school. Director Replogle gave a detailed account of the preparation necessary for the festival, and asked for the cooperation of every student so that the local event would equal if not surpass the success of recent ones held in Ellwood City, Farrell and Aliquippa.

Housing for Two Nights
Cooperation is especially needed by the housing committee, headed by high school assistant principal, Mrs. Marjorie Nelson. Because there are many homes in New Castle which could accommodate one or two students for two nights, the local students were given a housing questionnaire to take home for their parents' consideration. A similar questionnaire will be offered to the public.

that the pent-up demand for meat, grain, etc., was so great that heavy inroads were made on supplies.

And regarding that new "dark" bread, some quarters predict that before long you'll be eating it and liking it. They point out that the public has merely become accustomed to "white" bread although the vitamins were put in artificially. The dark bread will have them naturally.

Probe Hurts Friendship
The congressional investigation into the Pearl Harbor disaster has done more damage to personal friendship between Army and Navy officers than all the snubs in their social careers.

While there are divided factions seeking to protect General Short and Admiral Kimmel, individual officers have been forced to put their colleagues "on the spot" in an effort to save themselves. In order to assure Congress they were not to blame, they had to shift it to someone else.

This stems from the fact that much damaging evidence against certain officers was given in secret investigations during the war. Now it's being released to the public for the first time through Congress.

Smart diplomats are watching Korea to determine the measure of future relations between the United States and Russia. The United States has no interest in Korea except to defend and promote democracy. But the Russians have a vital concern in what happens there because of their proximity to the Far East.

Thus far, Russia has been comparatively kindly to the United States. The two nations are jointly controlling the administration of Korea. Disputes have occurred chiefly in areas where there was no clash of interest between the two powers. Therefore, in Korea the seeds of conflict could be sown because of Russia's Oriental interests.

That's why the diplomats consider the Korean situation "very interesting."

DISCUSS DUTIES OF FOREMEN

Economic And Business Foundation Hears Noel Arthur On Monday Night

Speaking under the sponsorship of the Economic and Business Foundation Monday night in the Benjamin Franklin Junior High school, Noel Arthur of the American Viscose company discussed the problem of greater responsibilities for foremen. His title was "Allocating Authorities, Responsibilities and Accountabilities."

Mr. Arthur pictured the foreman of other days who had the authority to hire, suspend, fire, lay off, raise or lower pay rates. Those authorities in a large measure have been taken away. Quoting an industrial relations man, Mr. Arthur said, "Industry must strengthen the hand of its foremen in order to secure the best industrial management."

Management's authority has decreased steadily, Mr. Arthur said, and he showed that during the war management could not open or close a plant or business, hire or fire, increase or decrease wage rates and a number of other things, entirely upon its own.

Authorities and Responsibilities
With the end of the war some of management's authorities and responsibilities have returned, Mr. Arthur said, but added that the men at the top of business and industry want to see some better distribution of authority among the members of the management group.

"We can never return to the old days when a foreman's word was law," said he. "We shall probably never see the day again when hurried thoughtless decisions at the foreman level will be backed up by a senior management."

Mr. Arthur suggested a number of qualities to look for in men to whom authority should be delegated. Among them are ability to understand, the law, the labor agreement, company policies and procedures and their background. Ability to gather significant facts and opinions and weigh them in good judgement. Willingness to co-operate with other members of the management organization in attaining a level of judgement consistent across the group.

Concluding his address Mr. Arthur said, "Today's problem remains one of opportunity to learn—and really learning—opportunity to develop ability, opportunity to show willingness and finally authority to demonstrate that management's remaining authority will be used in a way to make possible the discharge of management's heavily increased authorities."

Mr. Arthur handled his subject in an intelligent fashion, and pointed out as he went along, the peculiar problems in the path of management in the distribution of authority. The was introduced by Dr. A. M. Paxson of the Economic and Business Foundation of New Wilmington.

Languorous lines reveal themselves in the side-swept versions. Towering crowns are columnar and regal... off-the-face silhouettes, pretty, feminine. Is it any wonder we envisage a lovelier, more radiant you this spring!

her to want to see, and to participate in all that goes on; but am I wrong in thinking I can and should teach her to relax even though I can't always provide a perfectly quiet room for her to sleep in?

Healthy and Active

"The baby is healthy and very active but I believe not highly emotional and has responded well to the few restrictions I've made, letting her seldom hear No. Her eating habits are good, eating and drinking entirely by herself since 12 months of age. She is affectionate and I sometimes rock her but not at nap-time or bed-time, and cuddle her often."

"She loves to look at books but soon wants to take them off and play with them and sometimes tears them. Should I continue to let her hold the book on my lap only, even though it may be for just a short period per day? I let her look and jabber to me at length about the pictures as I read or explain, and she enjoys that but soon would rather carry the book around and use it as a toy. I think she should be taught to take care of books early, just as to follow safety rules and to respect others' rights. Is this too rigid training at her age?"

"I am sending three self-addressed stamped envelopes for your bulletins. Teaching Tot Meaning of No. Fathers Are Parents Too and any other one you think I need."

Dr. Myers Reply

As I write this young mother, I think it is wonderful the way she has kept her husband in touch with the development of the baby he has never seen, the way he is preparing himself while in the service to be a good father, and how very well she is doing with this little person alone, even in the face of difficulties. I urged her to try not to be over-anxious about that baby's nap under the conditions but to go on requiring her to remain down in bed during nap-time company or no company.

Also, I suggested she do not let this child use a book as a toy to carry about but to put it away after using it with the child until this youngster is ready to look at it very carefully alone while sitting on the floor or by a low table. How you and I would like to meet these parents and that baby when they are all together again, bless their hearts!

WORM TURNS

ATLANTIC CITY.—(INS)—The worm turned as the case happened in Atlantic City with Chief District Court Clerk William L. Risley getting a boomerang.

After signing countless notices to evict hapless tenants from their homes, he found what it was like to receive one.

Risley, disclosed that his landlord had obtained a notice to oust him from his home.

"I did not want to embarrass the court because of my close association with the presiding judge," Risley said. "I felt that in my case the issue was a debatable one, but I just moved out without saying anything and got myself another apartment."

Senator Asserts Feeling Against Truman Nominee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Sen. Forrest Donnell (R) Mo., asserted today there is "widespread feeling" in St. Louis against President Truman's nomination of Commodore James J. Vardaman Jr. for a 14-year term as a member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors.

Donnell led the opposition against approval of the nomination of the President's naval aide before a Senate Banking and Currency subcommittee.

Sen. Eugene D. Milliken (R) Colo., a committee member, objected to the reading by Donnell of an editorial from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat which charged that Vardaman's business background "does not indicate brilliance" for such an important position.

Vardaman countered that there never had been any criticism "to my face" and that his expense accounts always had been approved by the board.

Vardaman told the committee that his difficulties as president of the bank were due to the fact that the directors "didn't want me or anyone else from the outside in there with them."

Milliken stated that the editorial matter did not constitute sworn testimony.

THE PLANT ENGINEER SAYS:

"Gas IS THE MOST ACCURATELY CONTROLLABLE
SOURCE OF HEAT"

In tens of thousands of plants and commercial establishments, Gas is used for many jobs calling for the most precise control of heat because engineers know that this modern fuel can be most closely modulated to the temperature required, whether to anneal X-ray tubes or melt armor plate. For instance, a manufacturer of precision glass for optical use consumes over 800,000,000 cubic feet of Gas yearly.

In the home, the housewife finds the Gas range the most accurately controllable source of heat for preparing meals. This gives her greater freedom in this important job and helps her guarantee the best results. Dietitians and housewives tell us closest fidelity to recipes is secured with a modern Gas range.

The precise temperature control of the modern Gas range provides greater economy too. It enables you to enjoy the distinct advantages of modern, low temperature oven cooking. This cuts meat shrinkage to an absolute minimum yet retains the natural flavor, juices and health values. And all while doing an average family's cooking for less than one dollar a month.

Be sure your new range is Gas and you will enjoy years of the finest, most effortless cooking. See your Gas Appliance Dealer or inquire at your Gas Company for latest information.

Cleveland Orchestra Here This Evening

Metropolitan Concert Guild Program Will Be Presented In Cathedral Auditorium

Tonight in the Cathedral, the Metropolitan Concert Guild reaches the peak of its 1945-46 season when the Cleveland Orchestra appears under the direction of Erich Leinsdorf. In addition, Edward McGill, former New Castle man will appear as the piano soloist of the evening.

This season's programs have been marked by high quality, but tonight's presentation is by far the best of the four concerts. Only through such an organization as the Metropolitan Concert Guild is it possible to present such a stellar attraction.

Young Director

Erich Leinsdorf is one of the youngest orchestra conductors in the United States. Just past thirty-three he has already won the acclaim of musicians over the country and is ably followed in the footsteps of his talented predecessors, Nikolai Sokoloff and Arthur Rodzinski. Mr. Leinsdorf has recently been discharged from the armed forces.

The appearance of Mr. McGill promises to be a musical fillip to a brilliant evening. As an accompanist he has been associated with a number of stars, among them Bruno Castagna. As a concert soloist he is rapidly achieving a reputation for musicianship.

It promises to be a delightful evening. More, it brings to New Castle music lovers the kind of music which is a part of a cultured life.

Opposes Clemency For Erie Slayers

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Erie County District Attorney D. J. McLaughlin today opposed clemency appeals filed with the state pardons board by two Williamsport men scheduled to be electrocuted March 25 for the slaying of a 73-year-old Erie industrialist.

Appeals were filed by Robert W. Pepperman, 30, and John D. West, 25, who were convicted of fatally beating Joseph Campbell, on July 25, 1945. An Erie county jury convicted both men of first degree murder.

Rotary Hears Two Speakers

Student Speaks On Brotherhood-Issues In General Motors Strike Given

New Castle Rotary club members heard two speakers at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday, both of whom presented facts on vital issues at stake in the world.

In connection with the national observance of Brotherhood Week in America, William McAnallen, of Senior High school, spoke on the need for promoting of better feeling among racial and religious groups in this country. The week is being sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

His talk was written by four Senior High students, of which he was one. The others who collaborated, and who were present at the meeting, Jim Gillespie, Roland Neri, and Don Levine, represented the Negro, Jew, and Protestant, while he represented the Catholic faith.

Each of the group will take turns at delivery of the speech before other clubs during the week.

He spoke of the absence of racial and religious feeling in the schools, no one asking in classes, musical organizations, clubs, or athletic teams, as to these matters. The only things asked are "what can you do, and how well can you do it?"

The question raised was whether they are going to enjoy the same brotherhood when they become a part of the adult section of the community. In closing, he read the Ten Commandments of Good Will, which were prepared by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Respect for All

It urges respect of all regardless of race or religion; protecting one's neighbor and children against racial and religious bigotry; exemplifying in one's own life, the spirit of goodwill and understanding; challenging the philosophy of racial superiority; not being misled by lying propaganda; refusing to support any organization which is anti- in its religious thoughts; establishing the spirit of comradeship; refusing to doubt the sincerity in others one claims in himself; upholding the civil rights and religious liberties of others whether one agrees with them or not; and lastly living and help living in others.

Through slides, and the reading of the written text, Mr. Blair presented the issues in the UAW-CIO strike against General Motors, from the standpoint of General Motors. He was accompanied by Harold Weigel, also of General Motors, who assisted him in the presentation, the program having been arranged by E. J. King, a member of the club.

ORDER ALFALFA, CLOVER SEED EARLY: SHORT SUPPLY

Farmers should realize there is a definite shortage of alfalfa and red clover seed, and make their orders immediately if they expect to obtain seed. Late comers may find none available. Only northern grown seed can be considered as winter hardy.

The only available supply of alfalfa seed is coming from Argentina and experience in tests at the Pennsylvania State College show most Argentina seed lacking in hardiness. To make scanty adapted supplies cover as many acres as possible, farmers should be economical in amounts used, and exercise care, especially in seedbed preparation where seeding is made with oats. The amounts of alfalfa and clover sown can be lowered without reducing the stand in many cases. Where seedings are made with winter grains, a light topdressing of manure while the ground is frozen will help greatly to secure a vigorous growth and a good stand of alfalfa or clover. However, if there is danger of the wheat lodging, it is better to omit the manure topdressing.

Nutrition Class Begins This Week

Emphasizing the need for conservation in meal planning during the post-war food shortages, the new Red Cross nutrition class will begin on Wednesday evening, February 20, at 7:30, in the model kitchen of the Pennsylvania Power company.

Miss Virginia Pierson, instructor of the course, will also stress ways of making the most of scarce items such as sugar and butter. Persons who wish to enroll in the course may either call the Red Cross chapter house on Beaver street, or enroll during the first meeting of the class, according to Mrs. William Cosel, chairman of the nutrition committee.

Albert Padula Finishes Service

Sgt. Albert T. Padula, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Padula, 731 Pearl street, has received his honorable discharge from the armed forces following three years in uniform. Two years of his total time in the service was spent in the European theater of operations with the 278th field artillery, a unit of the third army.

Sgt. Padula received three battle stars for his ETO ribbon, for his campaigns in England, southern France and Germany.

A brother, James Padula, is due to go into the service February 19.

Leaks On A-Bomb Project Increase In Recent Weeks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Maj. Gen. Leslie P. Groves, chief of the atom bomb project, asserted today there had been more "leaks" about the weapon during the last month than during the entire stage of its development.

Groves refused to specify sources of the leaks or so say whether they were of a vital nature.

Associates of the general declared, however, that testimony before congressional committees had contributed to the inadvertent scattering of secret information.

They said other leaks probably had come from persons connected with the atom bomb project. They pointed out laymen would not be familiar enough with the subject to divulge valuable information.

The atomic bomb tests to be held in May against naval vessels were reported to have aroused a storm of speculation amid which swirled clues to the world's top military secret.

Meanwhile diplomatic quarters in Washington followed with intensified interest the Canadian pursuit of a spy ring seeking secrets of the western hemisphere's defenses.

Lawrence County Truckers Assemble

Monthly Dinner Session Is Held In The Castleton On Monday Evening

Wider rims on trucks, to insure longer life of tires and increased load carrying efficiency were discussed Monday night by Oscar Strong of Pittsburgh when he addressed the Lawrence county chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, at the monthly dinner in The Castleton hotel.

Using illustrations Mr. Strong showed that a wider rim resulted in less stress upon the sidewalls of the tires, greater carrying capacity and easier riding. The idea of a wider base for tires has been discussed in trade magazines for some time and the idea is getting considerable attention in the field of motor trucking.

Tells Banquet Plans

President J. Fred Clarke told the group that the plans for the annual banquet of the association to be held on March 9 were about completed. Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, O., will be the principal speaker and Miss Betty Ellen Morris of Pittsburgh will be the soloist. The seating capacity is limited to 260.

On February 22 Mr. Clarke and a number of the chapter members will attend a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania-Eastern Ohio Planning Commission in Butler. At this meeting the question of new highways in this district will be discussed by Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer and representatives from many counties are expected to be present.

Next Major Wage Issue Is Seen In Coal Industry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Government labor experts predicted privately today that the next major test of the administration's wage-price program probably will come in the coal industry.

With the crippling steel strike fast dissolving and other rapid improvements expected in the general labor picture, Washington looked ahead to the traditional "spring" wage demands of John L. Lewis' half a million coal miners.

Another immediate test of the new stabilization policy also will come in the rubber industry. Leaders of the CIO rubber workers union and representatives of the nation's big rubber companies meet in Washington tomorrow to resume negotiations on the wage case of 10,000 workers.

Eventual wind-up of the current reconversion pay disputes in the oil, steel, electrical, meat packing and motor industries will leave the stage relatively clear, however, for the burly mine boss.

ACTION ON DOG TAGS

The recent threat of the dog law enforcement officer to begin arresting dog owners who have not licensed their dogs has had some effect. Approximately 3200 licenses have been sold with each day showing an increase. Many dog owners have neglected to get tags, others apparently are sitting it out until they are sure they will be arrested if they don't license their dogs.

TO AID EUROPE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Food experts in Washington said today that practically all of the meat exported this year by Argentina and Australia will go to famine-stricken Europe.

Agriculture and state department officials forecast a sharp decrease in the production of meat by Argentina for export, but said that the Australian mutton and lamb exports will increase slightly.

Argentina and Australia are two of the world's leading producers of meat for export.

Taft Assails Nominations

Declares Some Of President's Recent Nominations Have Excited "Indignation Of Nation"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, told the Senate Monday that President Truman's recent nominations for high federal posts "have excited the indignation" of the nation.

Taft made his charge as debate began in the Senate on the confirmation of George E. Allen, presidential adviser, to be a member of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

The other nominations he referred to were those of Edwin W. Pauley to be under secretary of the navy and Commodore James K. Vardaman to be a member of the Federal Reserve board. The Vardaman and Pauley nominations are now being considered by Senate committees.

Cites Indignation

Taft said: "The character of these appointments has excited the indignation of the country. Mr. Pauley knows nothing of the navy. Mr. Allen knows nothing about banking. Mr. Vardaman knows nothing about currency or controlling inflation."

"We all were appointed apparently because they are personal or political friends of President Truman."

Taft pointed to Allen's report to the Senate Banking committee that he "had a thin hint" that he might become chairman of the government corporation that controls 20 billion dollars worth of assets.

Should Be Factor

Taft declared that the possibility that Allen might become chairman should figure in the Senate's decision whether to confirm him.

Sen. Barkley (D) Ky., majority leader, then said he "questioned" whether Allen would become chairman.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., asked Taft if he had "attempted to find out just how thin the thin hint was."

Taft responded that "in view of Allen's relations with President Truman, it is implied that it is a probability."

Canteens Aiding Teen-Age Element In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Patterned after the same wartime canteens that served G. I. Joe and Jane, teen age canteens have proved the answer to much of the social problem for the juvenile element in the Philadelphia area.

A survey showed that the teen-age canteen—also known as a snackbar—has become a popular community institution. The Drexel lodge conference of school administrators of the Philadelphia area which has been studying community social opportunities for youth, reported that the canteens are an idea with a future.

Extension of such youth activities, and the allocation of funds from municipal or school budgets, or through community drives, is recommended by the committee.

Cheltenham, Radnor, and Lower Merion townships and Roxborough High school have such canteens in operation. And at Lansdale, provisions are made for an older group, 18 to 25, as associate members, in addition to 700 of high school age.

State Communities Can Share In Big U. S. Housing Fund

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—(INS)—Pennsylvania communities could plan today to share in a $40,000,000 federal appropriation for emergency in a five-state area.

John A. Kervick of New York, regional director of the Federal Public Housing Authority, predicted during a meeting with community and college officials at Harrisburg yesterday that the sum would be met out to New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware under a 250 million dollar appropriation bill pending in congress.

"Municipalities, colleges and universities which have not yet applied can be reasonably sure that in a short time there will be additional funds and we will be able to honor their applications," Kervick said.

The conference was attended by representatives of 49 colleges and communities that have applied for temporary units for housing veterans, the League of Third Class Cities, Boroughs Association, Department of Public Instruction, and State Housing Board.

Library Suggests 'Brotherhood' Books

Because brotherhood must extend beyond the boundaries of one week to the whole year, and must spread from the family to the community, the nation, and the world, the Public Library suggests a list of books which would be helpful in widening horizons and increasing "active good will."

Included on the list are: "A Nation of Nations" by Louis Adam; "All God's Children" by A. E. Cohen; "One God" by Florence Fitch; "What the Negro Wants" by R. W. Logan; "Our Free Minds" by H. A. Overstreet; "One Nation" by Wallace Stegner; and "One World" by Wendell L. Willkie.

Fear Dangerous Spring Fire Season

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—(INS)—The department of forests and waters reported today that danger signals pointed to a possible serious spring fire season opening in mid-March.

Chief Forest Fire Warden George H. Wirt explained that the high winds of March and the present "dry condition" of the ground increased the danger of woodland blazes. He urged Pennsylvanians to exercise extreme caution with fires near woodlands.

"Unless we get some very unusual wet weather we can expect fires anytime," Wirt said. Fire dangers were greater because vegetable matter on the ground was not covered with snow, he added.

Past experience has shown, he explained, that spring fire seasons usually run from about March 15 to June 1.

"COMMON COLD" WARNING
WILMINGTON, Del.—(INS)—Delaware residents were being urged today to take precautions against the "common cold" which is running rampant throughout the state. Nearly 2500 Wilmington public school pupils were absent in a single day in cases varying from colds to the more severe types of "snipe" or flu.

Frederich Von Flotow (1813-83), German composer was educated for the diplomatic service.
